

immunotherapies & innovations for infectious Diseases

9th Edition – 13 & 14 November 2025 - Lyon, France

Post-Event Report

I4ID LAST EDITIONS

The emergence of new infectious diseases, the re-emergence of “old” infectious diseases, the rise of antibacterial resistance and the difficulty to come out with a new pipeline of new antimicrobial compounds leads to consider the potential of non-conventional approaches, such as immunotherapies as new therapies.

Already on the ninth edition, the I4ID congress started on 2017 and the aim was to develop an exclusive conference dedicated to immunotherapies and infectious diseases, something that never existed before. In 2019, The thematic was enlarged to include, with the immunotherapies, all the innovations being developed to fight infectious diseases. In 2020, regarding the unique sanitary situation we were going through, we had decided it was imperative to include on this edition program the COVID-19 thematic.

I4ID is organized by MabDesign, the French expert in biotherapy and biomanufacturing (www.mabdesign.fr).

FOCUS IN 2025

The I4ID2025 program included 6 tracks with keynote lectures, pitch talks and industrial talks covering the latest developments and highest innovative projects in the field. Furthermore, it was possible to set up, through an online platform, business meetings during both days (partnering).

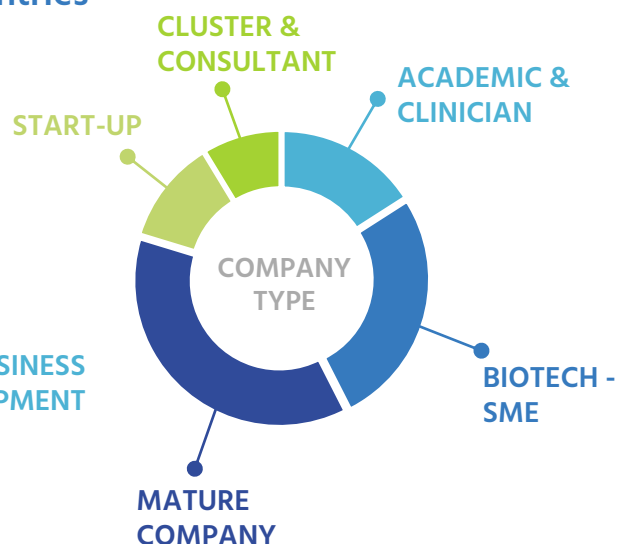

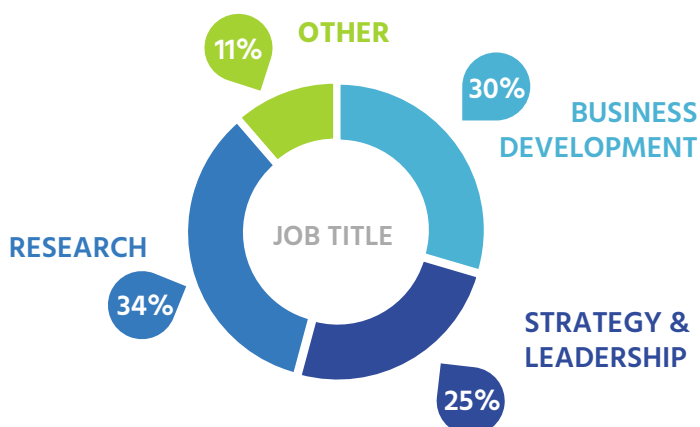

The topics covered during this congress were:

- Alternative to current antibiotics & antivirals
- Immunotherapies & new biotherapeutics
- One Health Approach to Tackling Infectious Diseases
- Innovations in human vaccines
- AI & Data-Driven Strategies for Infectious Diseases
- Innovative Biomarkers for Infectious Diseases: From Diagnosis to Theragnosis
